.President's Message

Worthy Brothers:

Welcome to the month of June and our last Division Meeting before our summer break. I hope you and your family will have a safe and enjoyable summer. I would like to give thanks to all our Division members for what we've accomplished so far this year.

Please, if you know any person who would like to join our Division, have them come out to our fall Division meeting on September 12, 2024, when we meet again at 7pm at St. Joseph's Church.

This fall season will be a busy time of the year when we will be discussing nominating a slate of officers for the upcoming year 2025. Please get in touch with myself or Dan Harrington by email with the names of any prospects.

Also, in the fall months, we will be discussing our annual budget. The Richmond Highland Games is coming at Dorey Park but the date is not set. And don't forget, raffle ticket season will be here, too!

We will be planning our annual Christmas Dinner and year-end charitable donations.

I'm looking forward to seeing you at our September Meeting!

Thank You.

A Bit of Irish History

The Spanish Armada

And The BlackIrish

The Spanish Armada was a fleet of 130 ships that sailed from A Coruña in August 1588 under the command of the Duke of Medina Sidonia with the purpose of escorting an army from Flanders to invade England. It met with armed resistance in the English Channel, when a fireship attack off Calais broke its formation, and was driven into the North Sea after the Battle of Gravelines.

When the fleet entered the North Sea, 110 ships remained under Medina Sidonia's command. Many were damaged by gunfire or were running low on supplies, making them unfit for service in the Atlantic Ocean. Some had cut their anchors in the flight from the fireships, which severely diminished their ability to navigate close to shore. Also, the Armada commanders made a large navigational error that brought the fleet too close to the dangerous Atlantic coasts of Scotland and Ireland.

The Spanish Armada in Ireland refers to the landfall made upon the coast of Ireland in September 1588 of a large portion of the 130-strong fleet sent by Philip II to invade England.

Following its defeat at the naval battle of Gravelines, the Armada had attempted to return home through the North Atlantic, when it was driven from its course by violent storms, toward the west coast of Ireland. The prospect of a Spanish landing alarmed the Dublin government of Queen Elizabeth I, which prescribed harsh measures for the Spanish invaders and any Irish who might assist them.

Up to 24 ships of the Armada were wrecked on a rocky coastline spanning 500 km, from Antrim in the north to Kerry in the south, and the threat to Crown authority was readily defeated. Many of the survivors of the multiple wrecks were put to death, and the remainder fled across the sea to Scotland. It is estimated that some 6,000 members of the fleet perished in Ireland or off its coasts.

Black Irish 101 - The term Black Irish is Irish American slang for the dark haired/dark eyed/light skin genetic characteristics appearing in the descendents of west Irish peoples with ancient Fir Bolg (Original aboriginal people of Ireland, who were smaller in stature than the Gaels, and had black hair, dark eyes, and white skin) origins. These people are proven to be genetically related to the Basques (France and Spain), Berbers (North Africa), and some Amerindians of the east coast of North America. A key marker is found in the predominance of Type O Blood amongst these people. The survivors of the Spanish Armada most likely did not live long enough in Ireland to form relationships and father children. There is no genetic evidence that the survivors of the Spanish Armada left any legacy. The genetic markers present in significant levels throughout Spain (the exception being the Basque) simply do not occur in Irish populations.

Flight of the Earls

The Flight of the Earls was a watershed event in Irish history that took place in September 1607. Hugh O'Neill, 2nd Earl of Tyrone, and Rory O'Donnell, 1st Earl of Tyrconnell, along with about ninety followers, left Ulster in Ireland for mainland Europe. They hoped to get help from the king of Spain but never returned to Ireland. After the earls left, English laws and language took hold in Ulster.

The 400th anniversary of the Flight of the Earls was marked on 14 September 2007, throughout Donegal, including a regatta of tall ships, fireworks, lectures, and conferences. The President of Ireland Mary McAleese unveiled a statue by John Behan depicting the Flight at Rathmullan. There is a permanent exhibition dedicated to the Flight of the Earls and the subsequent plantation in Draperstown in Northern Ireland and at the "Flight of the Earls Centre" in the Martello tower at Rathmullan. There were also commemorative postage stamps issued by the Irish post office, featuring Hugh O'Neill, Earl of Tyrone, and Rory O'Donnell, Earl of Tyrconnell, and based on original illustrations by Sean O Brogain, made as they were about to sail out of Rathmullan.

In 2008 there were also celebrations to mark the 400th anniversary of the arrival of the Earls in Rome, with a celebratory performance by the Cross Border Orchestra of Ireland in Sant'Ignazio Church in Rome.

Our Division History

The Msgr. Charles Kelly, Jr. Division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians was formed in December, 2009 and conducted its first meeting on January 21, 2010 at St. John Neumann Church, Powhatan, Virginia. The next few meetings were taken up with election of officers and the many procedural items needed to get our group started.

Since that time we continue to grow, adding new members and supporting and donating to Catholic schools and Churches in the area, in line with our commitment to Friendship, Unity and Christian Charity.
